

Examples of a Successful November as “VSBA Take Your Legislator to School” Month

Loudoun County Public Schools welcomed several legislators to their schools the week of November 11th through the 14th. Attorney General Mark Herring held a question-and-answer session with senior civics students where he talked about his job and the role of the Office of the Attorney General. State Senator Jennifer Wexton and Delegate John Bell visited third grade classes at Rosa Lee Carter Elementary where they observed personalized learning in action as students rotated through math stations, including technology, flash cards, manipulatives and project-based activities. Senator Wexton was also joined by Delegate Jennifer Boysko at Park View High School where they toured the school and spoke to seniors in government classes about the obstacles they encounter as women in the legislature. Finally, State Senator Barbara Favola visited Seneca Ridge Middle School and Delegate Jim LeMunyon visited Little River Elementary and Michael Lunsford Middle School where they spoke to students about elections, their role as state legislators, and the political process.

Newport News Public Schools hosted a bus tour of the school division for Take Your Legislator to School month with State Senator Mamie Locke, State Senator-elect Monty Mason, and Delegate David Yancey. The day started at Denbigh High School Aviation Academy where legislators saw a mix of academic and hands-on learning. Then the legislators toured several schools on the way to a luncheon at the division’s newest school, the Discovery STEM Academy, an K-5 school that opened in September.
